

WEGOUBRI, the history of the Sahelian Bocage

Our book on the history of the Sahelian Bocage, published in 2017 and republished in 2023, is available online at the following link with a digital version in English in Kindle format on Amazon at this link: <https://tinyurl.com/mr3j3m47>

This book explains the process that led to the conception of the Sahelian bocage throughout an action-research project that began in the 90s in Guiè and has since been extended to other regions of Burkina Faso, in order to give a future to our rural landscapes and make the earth greener!

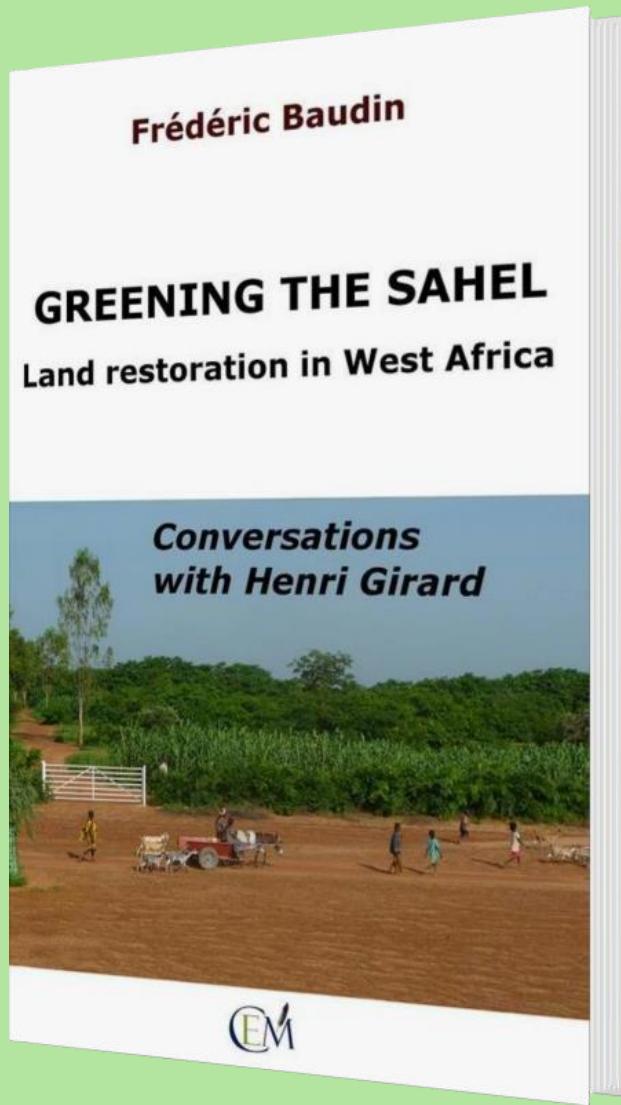

Photo: Front cover illustration of the Tankouri bocage perimeter in Guiè, Burkina Faso.

TERRE VERTE/GREEN EARTH

"Bocage, a solution for sahelian rainfed agriculture"

Created in April 1989, the TERRE VERTE NGO is dedicated to restoring the Sahel region's desertified soils through several techniques. Those converge towards a renewal of the agricultural system through the creation of bocage areas and set up a new rural deal by integrating the protection of the environment into Sahelian agriculture.